Biographical Information:

Personable and caring, Commander Alyon is working with the Galactic Federation to liberate planet Earth. Currently stationed at Kirtland Airforce base, he has worked with Light forces to claim it for the Ashtar Command.

Alyon calls Meton of Alpha Centauri his home, where he lives with mate Aleena and their son, who is still young. Although flying around earth for his work, he breaks to spend time with his family, living the lifestyle many E.T.s do, as they consider themselves to be people of space. He has spent many lifetimes training to become a commander with the Federation and considers the safety of this galaxy of utmost priority.

Alyon is 900 of our years old, so he was born when Vikings pillaged our earth. He has some familiarity with our planet. Those of the Ashtar Command are required to study our earth and its people before taking on the project of liberating us.

He considers his interests to be music, saying he is a good singer. He plays a sport that is similar to our cricket and enjoys interests that challenge the mind. On that note, I suggested he come to earth and in his customary gracious way, he declined with a smile.

Although telepathic, his home language he says is a derivative of Venusian, which of course we're not familiar with either. Alpha Centaurians originated from Venus.
