Biographical Information:

Me: Hi, Commander Erron, how are you?

CE: I'm well. I've been expecting you. I hear your people are admiring my picture.

Me: LOL Well, what can I say? We like attractive too.

CE: (makes a noise) You have much to learn. You have to learn why you're so attracted to beauty and it's about the vibration that beauty is - of high frequency.

Me: Yes, it's a high vibrational principle so the galactic humans and the angels like to be beautiful.

CE: We do.

Me: I know. We like beauty down here but we make degrading remarks about it too, make assumptions, use it for ill gain, etc etc. I know we have a lot to learn.

CE: Very good. You're aware at least.

Me: I used to get harassed because of my looks. Probably my vibration had something to do with that too.

CE: Yes. An unfortunate place, your world. So many misconceptions. No intelligence.

Me: I know.

CE: So, you're interested in my ship.

Me: I hear it's my ship.

CE: (he's laughing) I don't know if you understand the position you have in our fleet.

Me: No, I don't.

CE: Let me try to explain it to you with reference to what you understand on earth. You understand your military as a reptilian system, I see this. You would have something of an advisory position however you don't directly command the ship.

Me: Ah. I see.

Me: Okay. Now I saw you showing me that the ships fly in circular ranges that make the flower of life pattern.

CE: Yes

Me: Also you told me the ships fly in varying frequencies to make detection less possible. (that's why I saw what was a star flickering - because of these vibrational changes).

CE: Yes

Me: What's the name of your ship?

CE: I'll spell it.... Mangaram.

Me: What does that mean and what language is it?

CE: The ship is Pleaidian, Taygetan particularly, and it means "light".

Me: Are you Taygetan?

CE: Yes.

IMPLANT COMMUNICATIONS

Me: 5D?

CE: Yes

Me: Mated with children?

CE: (laughing) Yes.

Me: How old are you?

CE: I'm 700 years old.

Me: Wow. You don't look a day over 30.

CE: (laughing)

Me: How many people are on your ship?

CE: About 10,000. Sometimes more, sometimes less.

Me: I also heard you can't tell me what your range is because that would make you more detectable.

CE: I did tell you that.

Me: Can you tell me something really interesting about your ship so that I can pass that on to people who follow me?

CE: (laughing) What do you consider interesting?

Me: Have you been in battles? How long have you been a commander? Why did you choose to do this? Has your ship ever been injured?

CE: Yes, you like battles down there. Okay..... We have been in a battle over your planet earth since we arrived several hundred of your years ago.

Me: Wow! You've been there that long?

CE: (laughing) shaking his head.... Yes. We have taken out about 500 of your secret space program ships and even more of the reptilian ships that have been launched against us. We try not to destroy and we won't destroy your earth's life. Your people have had their own fleet of ships for about several hundred of your years but you don't realize this because you've been deceived into thinking that your industrial age was only 120 years ago. You've had ships and fire power long before that time and your people have been flying them long before that time as well.

Me: How is that possible?

CE: It's possible.

Me: So a 17th century Dutch businessman with pantaloons just gets hauled off and starts flying spaceships. Wouldn't the shock kill him?

CE: laughing No. There have been breeding programs under the earth's surface for a long time, thousands of years and this has created the slave race and those who were put into the secret military. This isn't just a recent innovation. They've been protecting your planet for a long time against other invaders.

Me: That makes sense. They've been here for 26,000 years so presumably they've been protecting it from even you guys for as long, haven't they?

CE: Of course. The life underneath and overtop of your world is far more progressed than you know. You are living in the dark ages by comparison.

Me: Makes sense. Well, I'm a bit gobsmacked. Thank you for that information, Commander.

CE: My pleasure. I can hear you thinking.

Me: A bit shocked, to be honest but I'll survive.

CE: Good. We need you here too.

Me: Thank you.
