Biographical Information:

Commander of Mothership Golangar flying over the Caribbean

He says that the ships are more personal to the staff than you are accustomed to. You have an assembly-line style but our ships are a vibrational match certainly to the commander, but to other higher ranking, if you like to see it that way, as well. He's laughing as I try to understand the concept. They're going to have fun with us! LOL He says, "This is why we release the information to YOU first!"

When asked if the ship has any particular strength that the others might be weaker in, he says, "Mine is a war ship. I particularly look to close portals and to protect the portals that we have opened here, however my ship can do any number of things. It is possible that you could be called to a particular purpose and then another ship would sub in for you while you are at this task.

I remember Hara as being a jovial sort of man, with a hearty laugh. Other commanders can be straight-faced and serious and some have difficulty understanding "where we're coming from" - how we think, although I believe many of them study us and take training on the earthling mind as part of their work on earth. I can hear him now.

H: "We do take training, Sharon. And we have difficulty because your people are so diverse in culture.

Me: We are diverse. And then there's the fear and hate aspects of our personalities that also make us difficult to understand for you.

H: We can consult with your souls and your guides if we are studying a specific one of you.

Me: So have people gone to Aurea and asked her about me before they contacted me?

H: (laughing) Yes. You are a good one too!!

Me: Thanks. ;(

H: You are very complex. With you we have to understand where you will be aligned - are you soul aligned or personality aligned that day. You can be cranky! (laughing)

Me: Easy for you to laugh, Hara.

H: Well, my love, I work with you a lot. In the astral you come to my ship as it is one of your assigned ships. (my fleet) And we talk about things. I try to soothe out your worries and your trials and tribulations of the day. And I must admit, I have a good laugh that you are perplexed by your feline.

Me: He runs the house. I figured that out.

H: (laughing) I love this. You are a slave to a cat as well.

Me: That's going to change. Once he's not so sick, I'll know that I don't have to feed him 12x a day anymore.

H: The simplicity of your problems amazes us sometimes.

IMPLANT COMMUNICATIONS

Me: What about the world issues?

H: Yes, that is a different category altogether. You have severe problems and these are of your own making.

Me: Blame the victim.

H: You must wake up. Why do you think it acceptable to shoot another being? To attack another, even verbally? Why is this acceptable?

The solution is so simple yet seems so complicated for you. Just stop.

Me: I know.

H: Ah yes, but so many of you are focused on changing others and of course that doesn't work.

You are a peculiar species.

Me: We are.

H: But I sense you're finished with this conversation.

Me: I have my pride. I'd like to ask you about your ship.

H: Yes, as I said, it flies over the Caribbean, so I have your Bermuda Triangle in my sites. We try to steer your aircraft away from that site as they tend to disappear into the portal that is active there.

Me: So tell me about that, Hara. Why is that Atlantean portal still active?

H: Yes, because it sunk to the bottom of the ocean and it cannot be turned off. This portal is in fact more powerful than your Pyramid of Giza.

Me: Is that so?

H: Yes. It is one of the powerful ones. Giza is smaller by comparison. The Atlanteans knew this was an important portal and so they built on that continent long ago.

Me: Is it at one of the chakra points? No, not even. So why so important?

H: There are other chakra points you're not aware of. You believe your earth has 8 chakras but there are more.

Me: Why is this portal so active? Why hasn't the dark reversed the polarity of it?

H: The easy answer is they can't.

Me: But they've shut down or reversed the polarity of so many other portals, why not this one too?

H: Where do you think the portal goes?

Me: To 4D.

H: Not quite. It goes a lot higher and the dark cannot touch anything that goes above 4D.

Me: I intuited it's like some kind of umbilical cord for Gaia that goes to Heaven!!! Wow! (Ivo tells me it's a main artery. Also the one in the Devi's Sea. I also sense there are more powerful portals on earth, maybe even at the poles).

H: That's about it. It keeps her alive. Well, barely alive as she has been, but now with the other energies coming back in, she'll do much better. Poor soul.

Me: Goes to heaven? Wow! What am I talking about? I can go there too. Just open all 12 chakras.

H: (laughing) But you're still here physically. This portal can take all there.

Me: So what happened to those people who ended up going up into the portal then?

H: They will go wherever their mind takes them. The portal goes to the twelfth dimension so when they think of a place, they will go there. However their timing must be correct otherwise they will end up back on earth in the 16th century. And knowing the way a confused pilot would be thinking, he may end up in 26th century earth.

Me: So Buck Rogers lives.

H: Your sci fi holds some truth.

Me: Amazing. This is fascinating information.

H: I am a fascinating man! (laughing)

Me: LOL I'm coming up to bug you tonight. LOL

H: You're very welcome, my dear.

Me: Thank you for that great information.

H: You're most welcome, and I bid you adieu.
