Integrity is Key: Learn to Stop Violating Others' Free Will

Sharon here. I decided to do this message because I've come to the conclusion that many people I deal with have no clue that others have free will.

People think that because I CAN channel Ashtar, or Michael or Ivo, that I WILL channel personal messages for them. That's a false assumption. What's more, they just send me an email without asking me beforehand if I will channel for them. They just assume I'll do it. That is an automatic reject. You won't get anywhere with me that way. The least you could do is ASK ME if you want some help first. Don't just assume I'll do it.

It seems the most important thing I have to teach people is proper boundaries, boundaries that align with universal law and respect of others' free will.

I have my own reasons for turning people away and the big one is I already do a lot for this community. I have my own spiritual growth to attend to and my own ascension process to suffer through. I'm a transmuter of negative energies as well, so I always have to manage moodiness, so I had to draw the line somewhere and that's where I drew it.

I deal with an audience that is worldwide and if I decided to channel personal messages for anyone who asked, I would be run off my feet.

I see other lightworker teachers who occasionally get off of Facebook because they're suffering from overwhelm. The reason they're suffering from overwhelm is because they're trying to help everyone. I believe this is codependent. They need to set limits with themselves and they're not doing it. Wanting to save the world isn't your responsibility, teacher, it's everyone's responsibility. When you don't have any help, you learn to do it yourself. That's how I did it. Everyone has to learn to say "no" and everyone has to learn to respect a "no".

Helping people often takes the onus off of the person to do their own work. We are going through an ascension process and for anyone who is ascending on any planet or dimension anywhere, it means doing your own inner work. For some reason, people on this planet don't think they have to. They do. This is about self mastery; it's not about asking everyone who you think can help you.

I was working with a team, leading them on raids in the underground bases. One member would step up to take the lead occasionally but the others never did. When I quit the group, they all started taking turns as lead and trying to channel. How about that? Sometimes the mother bird has to step back and let the fledglings fly the nest. They're doing fine, and I have nothing to do with their work anymore. They are all gaining in ability now since I left the group. Sometimes teachers make it too easy for the students to do nothing. Sometimes having someone there who is really capable intimidates the student.

The fact is, contact with your higher self is the best route to ascend, not asking another lightworker. If you don't have direct contact, there's a reason for this. To have the power to be telepathic generally means certain requirements be met: proper boundaries would be one, boundaries that respect others.

Integrity is a large part of the process of channeling. Do you think that Light Beings, who are beings of integrity themselves, want to channel to liars, egotists, codependents and those with lousy boundaries? They want to channel to people who are more like them, not dissimilar. That way, their messages get through more clearly with less distortion in the lower dimensions from your lower mind and emotions.

I make my messages available to the public, not to private individuals, because private individuals are to use what I channel to do their own work. That's how I help people.

Free will is the right of all people on this earth. We have been living contrarily to free will and need to learn what it is and how to respect our own rights and others.

I'm not very keen on boundary violators because I've dealt with some pretty severe ones in my lifetime, not the least of which were my narcissistic parents. One of the things that irks me is that people misrepresent their intentions. If I give you my email address for a specific purpose, then it's to be used for that purpose and nothing else. If you decide to start emailing me with personal questions because you now have my email address and I didn't give it to you for that reason, I will send you an email telling you why I am going to block you, and then I will block you.

This is deception. People need to realize that misrepresenting their intentions is deceptive and this is an example of that. I don't take your email addresses, say I'm going to do something with them, and then sell them off to amazon or some other telemarketing interest. I keep them private and don't share them around. You gave me that email address trusting that I wouldn't abuse it, and I don't. I expect the same in return.

I can channel anyone in the universe including God. That doesn't mean I WILL channel anyone in the universe and that doesn't mean I WILL channel anyone for you, especially if you don't even bother asking me first whether I will or not.

This is free will. We need to learn to allow others to live their own lives by their own design, as they choose, and respect when they say no to us. But you see this is sorely lacking in our world now, and big business is the first offender. That doesn't mean we follow their example.

Personal integrity is important. If you want to learn to channel or speak with your higher self, you have to learn to be more like your higher self. It's that simple. Violating others' boundaries isn't going to get you air time with your H.S. That's not how your H.S. works. Your H.S. lives according to universal law and respects others' free will. Your ability to hear them relates to how far you have ascended away from the Matrix. If you're behaving as you've been taught to in the Matrix, then you won't be able to hear your H.S. because the Matrix was created in such a way as to prohibit that contact. The Matrix was created to prohibit ascension of the people of earth.
