Biographical Information:

Ocallan from the Pegasusian race of humans, contacted me recently at a request for volunteers to introduce to earthlings. The Pegasusians (Pegasians?) were also involved in the seeding of humanity on earth long ago, and in that vein, she offered this information.

Her race spans the 5D physical to 8D non-physical dimensions. They were here on earth long ago and have left their DNA, which is all over the world, probably mixed in and non-dominant for many. Their gift to earth was the unicorn, the Pegasus horse. It's not a myth; it's a real animal.

The Pegasusians' 5D world is magical, very peaceful, very loving, they care for the animals as the animals do them, they mate and have children as we do. Their world is more of a "violet" world more amethyst, including houses made of amethyst. They live in a matriarchy that trades with other worlds for their needs. Some of their cities are amethyst cities which would be absolutely beautiful to see.

5D's eat vegetables, fruit and other organic matter we don't have on earth, their water is a different quality because of the suns. They can live thousands, possibly 10's of thousands of years and they are planning to come back to earth and meet us at some point to teach us again.

Ocallan says she's not a high priestess because they don't have that designation, or that system, but I feel she's in a trusted position. She says she's in an advisory position and entrusted with their cultural information. She has a family all on the 8th dimension, but they help the people in 5D on their planets. I'm getting an image of their collective energy fueling their sun. When it's no longer needed anymore, then the sun can die. Don't know if that's the case everywhere else. She says their sun is older so they support it. But the sooner their people evolve, the better.

She says they have many hobbies we're unaware of but she enjoys doing things like watching visiting other races and guiding them. She says she comes here at times as well. But she's wary of the low energy and doesn't want to stay around it for long.
