Ivo Explains "Quantum Time", How it Works in Our Lives and Why 3D's are Stuck in Time Loops

Ivo explains how we explain away quantum time and what is actually going on. He explains time loops and why you shouldn't step into any invitation you get to do so.

Interesting stuff. Also coming out in our next video.

Ivo: My love, everything you are undergoing is a preparation for the next step. This applies to everyone. Because your lives are a process of putting one foot in front of the other and marching forward. You see it as linear right now. So be it. Sometimes you believe you are set back, but these setbacks can be advantageous if dealt with properly (Why do you think you have been set back? Because your timeline is NOT linear and you have actually gone back in time to another "Now". This is what loops are. If your timeline is in a loop, you can still relate to others who are going forward, as you call it, however you are starting this life lesson over. If you feel life has left you behind, this is why. You are in a time loop and must remove yourself from it by changing yourself sufficiently and for you that equates to awareness – being able to put the horse before the cart, so to speak and to not re-engage the loop.)

Me: LOL Like John Lennon's song of "Starting Over." You are starting over. You're starting over your timeline, your "now" moment with respect to one life lesson only, perhaps with another person and perhaps as an older person yourself. But you're starting over your timeline. Time is quantum, not linear but we tend to explain away all the quantum aspects as just mood states. Or how many of us, "feel like a kid again?" or "feel like the first time I fell in love again?" How many of us, when seeking to heal something, look back to our childhood to find out the origins of the problem? This is the timeline and you are jumping around in it to understand how to help yourself get out of the problem and leave it behind.

Ivo: I might add, my love, it is important to stay out of loops. Loops are constructed by third dimensionals in order to ensnare you into a time of your past. Your neighbour next door who was attempting to have third dimensional sexual relations is one example of this. Do not go back into the time loop as it will set you back in so many ways.

Me: He's my history, not a mystery. LOL

Ivo: In order to learn the lesson, you loop back to the beginning again. You left the loop when you realized all you needed to raise your frequency and remove yourself from it. We do not work like this because we understand quantum time and work through frequencies. You do not, so you repeat the same situations, you attract the same situations constantly, until you can break out of the loop. You have realized lately, arguing with family members who do not listen and who think you are crazy, neighbours who are attempting to have sex with you, religious zealots who are attempting to indoctrinate you and add you to their fellowship, codependent females attempting to co-victim with you, and alcoholics attempting to dominate and subjugate you – these represent loops you could enter into but you are too aware to do so now. So it appears to you that you are unsuccessful again in navigating relationships in this lower dimension – but you are in fact very successful because you have learned these lessons and are aware of what these relationships will do to you – you have avoided the loops. You forge on, observing space craft at night time, channeling for the public and envisioning our future together – these are not ego loops – they are your soul's purpose you are expressing. I would say you are doing very well with your handling of the third dimensionals around you, and you must stop thinking of yourself as a failure. You have not failed at all. You are not unloving because staying in someone's loop with them is imprisoning both of you in hell. In fact, you are unstoppable. Earthlings' lives have looped over and over and over again. That is why they say, "History repeats itself." It does when you do not learn from it. However, it creates a lot of loosh for the dark ones; the only ones who gain from your being stuck in a loop.

Your third dimensionals are stuck in time loops they cannot escape from. They do not learn, they only experience negative reactions, and they are doomed to repeating these themes over and over again as they repeatedly reincarnate.

Lightworkers can break through the Loops and in so doing, release negativity from the conscious collective and free earthlings to begin to learn again from their experiences instead of repeatedly experiencing them.

Now, as your Storm is happening, there are some who are capable of creating new timelines on your planet. Either in political power or not, simply acting as denizens of your world, they have imploded many looping timelines and caused those in the loops to begin to react to new circumstances they have not experienced before. They are out of the loop, so to speak, and I realize this is a negative expression you use, citing someone who is not up on circumstances, not current, however those out of the loop now are the ones who are more free.
