

ET Profile

Name:	Wartine
Race:	Andromedan/Pleiadian hybrid
Home Planet /Star:	Beta Andromeda (Mirach)
Dimension:	5th
Distance from Earth:	199 light years
Calling:	Botany
Service to Earth:	Galactic Federation Mothership Commander
Earth Incarnations:	None

Biographical Information:

Quiet, calm and steadfast, I worked with Commander Wartine while his ship was overtaking a DUMB along the California coastline.

With an Andromedan father and a Pleiadian mother, Wartine was raised in Andromeda. With many differing species of plant life, Wartine became fascinated with botany and this led to his studying the relationship between differing life forms, spirituality and their importance to each other. Which he comments is a far greater study than anything we know of on earth.

I was always quiet, he says laughingly, even for a telepathic. I was known for being very observant and my unusual conclusions became sought after within my community. I became reputed for having a different outlook from the norm and this eventually led to my receiving captaincy of a star ship. They saw great qualities of leadership in me this way, so they allowed me to advance in this direction.

I work with a team of leaders, yes, the most outspoken of which is Sallas, however we all add our energy into the collective decisionmaking of this team. It is almost expected in the Federation that you give your opinion because they feel that more minds make it lighter work.

Yes, I am mated and we have 2 children. My mate spends most of the time on Andromeda with the children, not on the ship. I take time off to be with my family and as you know, when you are telepathic, nobody is far away. I enjoy what you call sports and we have some games that are not as demanding as your football and rugby, but are of much the same intent. We also engage in sports with animals, including running and we find they are our closest rivals.

My line of humans can live to 2,000 years old or perhaps older. As you may be aware we pass on when our job is done in the current body and we wish to go back home again. We tend to do this as groups so that we will not have to miss each other as I see happens on your world so often. Me: A lot of people really have a hard time when their beloved friends leave because they think they'll never see them again. Wartine: Yes, we don't believe these things of course, but your planet has to learn what separation is before it learns what Oneness is and this is one way it occurs. Me: Separation isn't always a lot of fun, I've learned. Wartine: No, and this is part of the lesson. But there are many facets to separation including individuality, being ward over your own self, self-responsibility, so there is much to learn just within this one classification alone.

Me: Thank you. Thank you for your bio. Wartine: Oh, my pleasure.