Biographical Information:

Having been the starting point for humanity's venture out into the galaxy from Lyra and Vega, Sirius is home to a diverse group of beings, physical and non-physical. It is also home to both service to others and service to self races as well as being the foundation point for earth's Illuminati where the dark arts are rooted in the philosophies of the negative Sirians. Zorra says that Sirius is a gathering point and it is advantageous to be there.

At present, many of the elders in the galaxy call Sirius their home, non physical and physical because it's a more central location. Zorra says that Sirius has good energies, a good star, many are attracted to it, although there are not as many physical beings as there are non-physical.

There are agreements so the dark and light factions can co-habitate respectfully. Everyone is allowed to develop as they choose.

The blue people are humanoid. They are a genetic anomaly and came from out of the galaxy and settled there because of the sun, which was most like their home planet. The Sirians welcome them as a wonderful addition to this galaxy.

The Sirian Lyon people came from Lyra.

Zorra is a mothership commander in Ashtar Command who is now flying over Dulce base. He has done this work for 3 lifetimes. He states, "I enjoy my work." He is 3,000 years old now. He says he will live as long as he wants.

He is mated, with two children.

His home planet is Nareeria with is a small planet around the big star, Sirius A which is the one we can see with bare eyes. The planet is not that watery so it's good for humans to habitate as opposed to some Sirian planets that are all water, to house different life forms. Zorra says there are more planets like this in the galaxy, not just in Sirius.

His hobbies and interests: He enjoys philosophy and good music. He plays a musical instrument like a flute but more complicated called a terarephit. He speaks many languages and also knows many Sirian languages which he says they can learn easily, it's not a barrier for them. He thinks our game of chess is interesting.

He is a Vegan, choosing to eat only plant based life.
